

26 of the best hotels in Rome for 2026

From statement-making palazzos to sleek urban abodes, the Eternal City has an endless array of fantastic places to stay. These are our favourites

The view from the Soho House Rome rooftop

MR & MRS SMITH

Julia Buckley, Italy expert

Sunday May 24 2026, 5.00am BST, The Times

Listen · 26:35 min

Share

Prefer us on Google

It may be the Eternal City but Rome is never stuck in the past. New archaeological sites are regularly being opened up, new discoveries are made, new exhibitions bring world-class art into an already world-class city... and new hotels keep the accommodation scene sizzling. As recently as ten years ago, Rome's hotels left a little to be desired — if you couldn't afford a grande dame, you were likely to end up with somewhere to sleep, but not conducive to a lie-in. Today, there really is the gamut that you'd expect from one of Europe's great capitals: boutique hotels with high-design inside, home-style pads in famous palazzos, family-run classics, cheap but sleek places by the train station, and even hotels run by Italy's greatest fashion designers. There are new entrants to the scene each year — like the Romeo Roma, which brought a new level of luxury to the centre in 2025, and Soho House Rome, which opened in the funky San Lorenzo district outside the centre in 2021.

Location is everything in Rome — this is a vast city, and public transport in the historical centre is limited. So it's best to think about what kind of trip you're planning. Will you be concentrating on ancient Rome? Look around Monti and the Via del Corso, leading to the Forum, or stay near the Colosseum at the Hotel Lancelot. Do you want an upmarket city break? Stay around the Spanish Steps. The Vatican? Prati, or somewhere on the Tiber River where you can walk across to St Peter's. Do you already know Rome well? Try a leafy residential neighbourhood beyond the Villa Borghese. To help you choose, we've listed as

26 of the best hotels in Rome for 2026

From statement-making palazzos to sleek urban abodes, the Eternal City has an endless array of fantastic places to stay. These are our favourites

The view from the Soho House Rome rooftop
MR & MRS SMITH

Julia Buckley, Italy expert

Sunday May 24 2026, 5.00am BST, The Times

Listen • 26:35 min

Share

Prefer us on Google

It may be the Eternal City but Rome is never stuck in the past. New archaeological sites are regularly being opened up, new discoveries are made, new exhibitions bring world-class art into an already world-class city... and new hotels keep the accommodation scene sizzling. As recently as ten years ago, Rome's hotels left a little to be desired — if you couldn't afford a grande dame, you were likely to end up with somewhere to sleep, but not conducive to a lie-in. Today, there really is the gamut that you'd expect from one of Europe's great capitals: boutique hotels with high-design inside, home-style pads in famous palazzos, family-run classics, cheap but sleek places by the train station, and even hotels run by Italy's greatest fashion designers. There are new entrants to the scene each year — like the Romeo Roma, which brought a new level of luxury to the centre in 2025, and Soho House Rome, which opened in the funky San Lorenzo district outside the centre in 2021.

Location is everything in Rome — this is a vast city, and public transport in the historical centre is limited. So it's best to think about what kind of trip you're planning. Will you be concentrating on ancient Rome? Look around Monti and the Via del Corso, leading to the Forum, or stay near the Colosseum at the Hotel Lancelot. Do you want an upmarket city break? Stay around the Spanish Steps. The Vatican? Prati, or somewhere on the Tiber River where you can walk across to St Peter's. Do you already know Rome well? Try a leafy residential neighbourhood beyond the Villa Borghese. To help you choose, we've listed as many locations as we can in relation to the city's main sights rather than by official neighbourhoods. Whatever you're looking for, you'll be covered in our list of some of the best hotels in Rome.

Editor's choice

- Best for value Mama Shelter Rome
- Best for luxury Hassler Roma
- Best for the vibe Hotel de Russie
- Best for style Fendi Private Suites
- Best for wellness Villa Agrippinia Gran Melia
- Best for design Soho House Rome
- Best for location Hotel Stendhal
- Best for couples JK Place Roma
- Best for green credentials Six Senses Rome

How does a hotel make our list?

Our hotel lists are carefully curated by travel, hotel and destination experts, who, along with our editors, take into account a wide range of properties when considering what counts as “the best”. From new boutique beauties and ultra-luxe stalwarts to cheerful, affordable neighbourhood spots, you'll find them all on our list. We regularly reassess, revisit and refresh this list as new properties launch and the classics reinvent themselves.

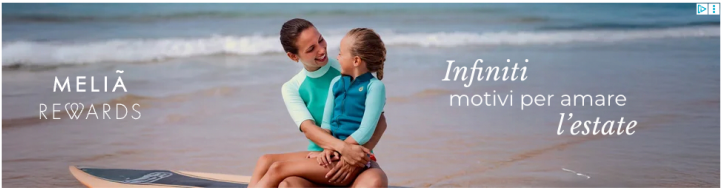

All recommendations within this article are informed by expert editorial opinion. If you click on a link in this story we may earn affiliate revenue

1. Romeo Roma, Piazza del Popolo

£££ | SPA | POOL | Best for total luxury

ADVERTISEMENT

The rates are eye-watering, but that's because no expense has been spared when it comes to this 2025 opening. The younger sibling to the Romeo Napoli, which singlehandedly rebooted the Naples hotel scene when it brought modern luxury to the gritty Campanian portside, the Romeo sees what Rome's grande dames have done so well for decades, and then multiplies that by four. The rooms might have original 17th-century frescoes or be swathed in ebony and marble; the interiors are designed by Zaha Hadid. Alain Ducasse is at the helm of the restaurant, and the spa is located just beyond the Roman ruins.

Book now

- Read our full review of Romeo Roma

2. Soho House Rome, San Lorenzo

MR & MRS SMITH

££ | SPA | POOL | Best for getting off the tourist trail

Top stories

- 1

NEW

Russian warship that fired on yacht escorted shadow fleet tanker

Defence
- 2

Trump hits out at 'bad people' criticising Obn Iran deal

US news
- 3

UPDATED

Two Chinese spies jailed after landmark espionage trial

Crime
- 4

NEW

Death of a seagull: diner's brutal revenge has Spain in a flap

Europe

If you're a Rome aficionado and you'd like to explore beyond the city centre, this is the perfect place to see the Rome of the (modern) Romans. North of Termini station, where tourists rarely tread, this ten-floor brutalist office building has been transformed into a temple to modern Roman art and culture. The area, San Lorenzo, is a proudly working-class district that's home to artists and students (La Sapienza university is across the street); rather than standout sights, you're here for a dose of reality. The Verano, Rome's main cemetery and the resting place of many notable figures from Marcello Mastroianni and Ennio Morricone to Mussolini's mistress, is at the bottom of the street; one of Rome's best restaurants, Pommidoro, is around the corner; and you're on a direct bus route to Termini, and from there to the centre. But hopping on may not be front of your mind, because the views from the rooftop (where there's a restaurant, bar and pool) and from the ninth-floor wraparound balcony are spectacular. Rooms are Soho House's typical blend of classical looks, ultra-cosy feel, and a plethora of full-size toiletries in the bathroom. You don't have to be a member to stay here, although members get preferential rates.

Book now

3. Hotel de Russie, Spanish Steps

BOOKING.COM

£££ | SPA | POOL | Best for an enchanted garden

ADVERTISEMENT

Top-hatted doormen stand sentry at this Rocco Forte property, one of the best addresses for a stay in Rome. Its interior combines two enduringly popular styles — Roman classicism and art deco — in an unusual but successful pairing applied across communal spaces and 120 rooms and suites. Botanical wallpapers hint at the hotel's real ace card: its magnificent terraced courtyard garden. Surrounded by mature pines and citrus trees and overrun with vines, it's an enchanting spot — an inner-city oasis that lures a glamorous guest list. Service is exceptional, whether you're ordering a signature cocktail in the Stravinskij Bar or chatting with the concierge about a tour.

Book now

4. Hassler Roma, Spanish Steps

£££ | SPA | Best for celebrity style

At the top of the Spanish Steps, with unrivalled views across the city skyline, it's little wonder the Hassler has been a celeb favourite, with fans from Audrey Hepburn to Tom Cruise, who stayed here before his wedding to Katie Holmes. Today, it's one of the few family-owned five-stars in the city, with the Wirth family (originally from Switzerland) at the helm since 1921. Its Imago restaurant is Michelin-starred and enjoys spectacular views across the city — as does the rooftop terrace bar. In 2018, renovations removed a lot of heavy-feeling mahogany and marble, updating all the belle époque opulence with a dose of art deco. Its 82 rooms include the monochrome Presidential Suite Trinita dei Monti.

Book now

- Read our full review of Hassler Roma

5. Margutta 19, Spanish Steps

EXPEDIA

£££ | Best for gilt-edged elegance

ADVERTISEMENT

This stylish hotel is a few minutes' walk from Piazza del Popolo, on one of Rome's most picturesque cobbled streets, Via Margutta, which is known for its modern art galleries. The look inside is equally beguiling, with a colour palette reminiscent of a box of Terry's All Gold and furniture that evokes the elegant post-war look of Italy. Some rooms overlook the quiet street, others the peaceful courtyard with a living wall. There's a 24-hour concierge on the front desk and breakfast is served in EMME, the downstairs restaurant, which has a terrace well suited to Rome's balmy nights.

Book now

- Read our full review of Margutta 19

T TIMESHolidays

You can now book your holiday with The Times via our own travel agency

Call us on 0808 1342945
Mon-Fri: 9am-6pm Sat: 10am-5pm

Enquire now

6. Mama Shelter Rome, Prati

£ | POOL | Best for a sense of fun

Fans of kitsch will feel right at home at the Rome branch of the popular Mama Shelter group, whose hotels showcase a sense of wit and playfulness. Mama's trademark camp colour schemes and retro design are very much to the fore here. In the rooms, peacock-print fabrics meet pastel pinks and pistachio, the lobby looks like a cross between an upholstery swatch shop and a street artist's sketchpad, and the pool resembles one you might find on a Wes Anderson film set. There's a winter garden bar-bistro in which to chill, a rather good pizzeria with a hint of the Fifties and a knockout rooftop bar overlooking St Peter's Basilica. It's not to everyone's taste, for sure, but it's undeniably fun and rates are affordable by Rome standards. The location near the Vatican (walks of about 15 minutes to its museums and 30 minutes to the square) is excellent too.

Book now

7. Hotel Santa Maria, Trastevere

££ | Best for seclusion in the city

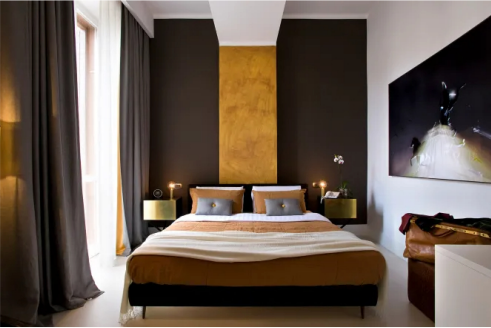

ADVERTISEMENT

An oasis of peace in bustling, scooter-thronged Trastevere, Hotel Santa Maria is set around a courtyard shaded by orange trees and fragrant shrubs. The site was a convent during the 17th century and retains that air of serenity and calm. In fact, with its hefty beams and cloistered setting, it's hard to believe that you're in the Italian capital, within walking distance of many of the most popular sights. Choose from simple, pastel-coloured rooms through to suites suitable for families; all overlook the courtyard, where the sumptuous buffet breakfast is served on sunny days. This is an honest, down-to-earth hotel that offers super value (at least by Roman standards).

Book now

8. PiazzadiSpagna9, Spanish Steps

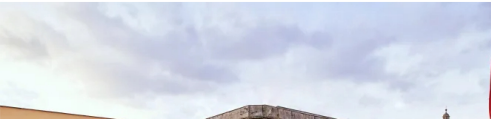

£££ | Best for art lovers

A sprawling square at the bottom of the Spanish Steps, the Piazza di Spagna has been an essential stop on Roman holidays since the days of the Grand Tour. Occupying the third floor of a 15th-century palazzo, its namesake hotel brings things right up to date with art-focused rooms that are part place to stay, part installation. Eye-catching pieces adorn the rooms and much of the striking furniture was designed by the owner, Stefania Grippo; most of what you see is for sale. It's a good pick for couples interested in design — and there's also a two-person Turkish bath. If you want to go all out for a celebration, the hotel encourages takeovers, where you can book the whole place for exclusive use.

Book now

- Best affordable hotels in Rome

9. citizenM Rome Isola Tiberina, Jewish Quarter

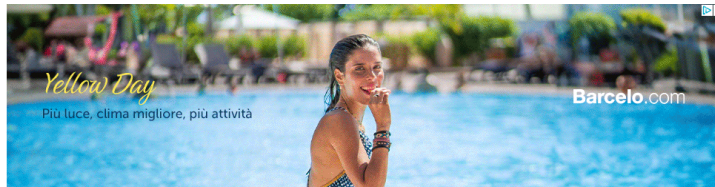

UK.HOTELS.COM

££ | Best for a riverside stay

ADVERTISEMENT

Sure, it looks like an office block and it's part of a big, budget urban hotel chain, but this affordable hotel has a huge amount going for it. For a start, it's right in the heart of the city and, like other citizenMs, the design has a stripped-down, vaguely Scandi feel — it's all about functional furniture offset by pops of colour helping to liven up an aesthetic that would otherwise feel bland. The beds are comfy, the canteenM bar serves food until late and there's a rooftop bar for drinks — what's not to like? This is a fascinating and unusual location: on the bank of the Tiber, overlooking the Isola Tiberina (Tiber Island) and on the edge of the historical Jewish Quarter. The area was the birthplace of Roman classic foods such as carciofi alla giudia (delicately fried artichokes), and the restaurants here today continue the proud traditions of the area.

Book now

10. Six Senses Rome, Piazza Venezia

BOOKING.COM

£££ | SPA | POOL | Best for upmarket sustainability

A quarry's worth of travertine marble, a cocktail menu named after Roman emperors and a set of traditional baths deep in the basement — it's hard to imagine a more Italian hotel than this upscale Six Senses, which opened on the Via del Corso, central Rome's main drag, in 2023. Wellness and sustainability are front and centre — the hotel has a sustainability manager who runs daily tours and the spa provides a range of wacky biohacking tools alongside traditional treatments. If you can't afford a room here (and few can), come for a drink on the smashing Notos rooftop terrace or for dinner at Bivium, arranged like a Roman courtyard in the centre of the hotel.

Book now

- Read our full review of Six Senses Rome

11. Hotel Vilon, Ara Pacis

£££ | Best for an intimate vibe

This tucked-away design hotel has become something of a favourite among high-net-worth individuals holidaying in the Eternal City, and it's not hard to see why. It's next to Palazzo Borghese, and some of the 18 rooms peer into its private garden, giving guests a bird's-eye view of the classical statuary and well-tended topiary that other visitors miss. The scene inside is equally easy on the eye, with the 16th-century bones of the building complemented by art deco and mid-century elements and a smattering of playful portraiture. Another highlight is the bar-restaurant serving Italian classics, from an unbeatable negroni to cut-above rigatoni, in a space that spills onto a leafy courtyard.

Book now

- Read our full review of Hotel Vilon

12. Villa Agrippina Gran Melia, Vatican City

£££ | SPA | POOL | Best for a Roman resort

Despite its relatively central location, this is a proper resort hotel and, while part of an international chain, feels distinctly Roman too. Guests get their first glimpse of this sprawling pink palazzo along a drive lined with olive trees, and the surrounding Mediterranean gardens create a sense of welcome openness. There are two outdoor pools, numerous restaurants and bars — Amaro, a vision in teal, is particularly delightful — plus a kids' club and a Clarins spa. The 110 rooms vary in size but are uniformly neutral in look, and some have views towards Vatican City, five minutes' walk away.

Book now

- Best Airbnbs in Rome

13. Hotel Stendhal, Piazza Barberini

££ | Best for a central jumping off point

Since this hotel is in the middle of central Rome, its guests won't have to walk far to reach the historic monuments, making it ideal for sightseeing with children. Stendhal is also one of only a few reasonably priced city hotels with multiple room options for families, from suites to deluxe connecting rooms. Its merits aren't just practical, though. The staff are knowledgeable and friendly, and the interiors are appealing, ranging in style from time-honoured elegance to more contemporary boutique. The library bar is a cosy place in which to celebrate once the children have gone to bed, with windows over Via del Tritone for people-watching.

Book now

- Read our full review of Hotel Stendhal

14. Sofitel Rome Villa Borghese, Villa Borghese

BOOKING.COM

£££ | SPA | Best for city views

After a full renovation in 2019, this five-star hotel in a 19th-century palazzo has new vim and vigour. Its 78 rooms are gleamingly white, with the brand's signature beds — still deliciously comfortable — overlooked by iridescent ceiling panels. The champagne bar is new, but the jewel in the crown is the rooftop restaurant — with black and terracotta floor tiles and a garden-themed look to reflect the verdant view. Settimo overlooks the lush gardens of the villas up here on the fringes of Villa Borghese park, as well as enjoying sweeping views of the Rome skyline, as far as the dome of St Peter's (the views are so good a scene for Emily in Paris was filmed here). The menu is resolutely Italian, with classics such as spaghetti carbonara done exceptionally well.

Book now

- Read our full review of Sofitel Rome Villa Borghese

15. G-Rough, Piazza Navona

££ | Best for an offbeat experience

Its name is perhaps the least appealing aspect of this impeccably stylish ten-suite hotel. The "G" is shared with a sister property, Palazzina Grassi in Venice, and "Rough" indicates its stripped-back aesthetic. Patinated walls are hung with bold and textural works of art; the Pasquino Suite even features graffiti left from a demolition party that took place during the renovation. Aimed squarely at urban hipsters, the hotel offers a range of offbeat experiences, from the chance to make a leather bag with a leading designer to an urban picnic chaperoned by a guide in a golf cart. There's a gold-bricked bar on the ground floor that is perfect for the aperitivo hour.

Book now

- Read our full review of G-Rough

16. Palazzo Navona, Piazza Navona

BRITISH AIRWAYS HOLIDAYS

££ | Best for peace and quiet

With an unbeatable location in the city's historic core, Palazzo Navona is practically neighbours with the Pantheon, a 15-minute stroll from the Roman Forum and, as you might have guessed, right behind Piazza Navona. You can see the history of Rome spread before you from the hotel's nanoramic rooftop.

where canapés and cocktails are served each day between 6pm and 9pm. Inside, the look is more modern Italian, as bright white beds contrast with dark-wood floors. All rooms are soundproofed, making it peaceful by day and night. The buffet breakfast is the best available at any of Rome's four-star hotels.

Book now

- Best luxury hotels in Rome

17. The Fifteen Keys Hotel, Monti

EXPEDIA

££ | Best for cool design

Among the vintage shops and independent cafés of Monti stands this fittingly characterful hotel, with 15 — you guessed it — design-forward rooms. Although varying in size, all are lovely, with parquet floors, exposed brickwork and industrial-style lights, plus pale bedding and colourful patterned fabrics. Take your pick between one overlooking the rooftops of Rome or the leafy courtyard garden. The latter is an ideal place for a cocktail, as is the blue, mirrored bar. From the breakfast room to the lobby, the communal spaces encourage lingering, but there are complimentary bikes for those raring to explore — the young staff really know the city and are full of good ideas.

Book now

18. Hoxton Rome, Villa Borghese

£ | Best for local atmosphere

This hip hangout — a riot of Italian marble and velvet banquettes — is a taste of local life, in a residential neighbourhood not far from the parkland of Villa Borghese. Grab an espresso from Cugino bakery then take one of their bikes for a spin around the park, returning to the Elio restaurant for some scrambled eggs and meatballs — it's one of the few places in the city serving a decent weekend brunch. The 192 rooms are very much on-brand with the Hoxton aesthetic — sized from Shoebox to Roomy, with parquet floors, retro-inspired furniture and a playful, vintage-chic style. The breakfast-in-a-bag leaves a bit to be desired, though.

Book now

19. Villa Spalletti Trivelli, Quirinale

£££ | SPA | Best for a rooftop sanctuary

Less than a ten-minute (steep downhill) walk from the Trevi Fountain and almost as spectacular, this historic mansion built by Gabriella Rasponi, a relative of Napoleon, wears its illustrious aristocratic heritage well. The salons are magnificent, their walls hung with 16th-century tapestries. Bedrooms are grand and feature original furniture, while in the basement there is a spa inspired by Roman baths. While the overall look is elegantly historical, the rooftop terrace has been renovated in a more modern style — providing sanctuary for weary sightseers from dawn until dusk, it has multiple hot tubs and loungers, plus a free minibar.

Book now

20. JK Place Roma, Ara Pacis

£££ | SPA | Best for townhouse tone

There is no real outside space and no showstopper views, but this intimate townhouse with 27 rooms and suites just behind Via del Corso is a strong contender, adored by addicts of Ori Kafari's bespoke Italian brand — when in Rome, style is everything. Michele Bonan, who designed its hotels in Capri and Rome, is responsible for the cool, gentleman's club feel. In the lounge, the mix of mid-century chairs and marble statues (here a touch of kitsch) recall Anthony Minghella's The Talented Mr Ripley. Bathrooms are a dapper two-tone of grey and white marble. The all-day JK Café, informal service and the stroll to the Spanish Steps complete the feel of having a “place” in Rome.

Book now

- Read our full review of JK Place Roma

21. Portrait Roma, Spanish Steps

£££ | Best for personalised itineraries

The Lungarno Collection had always been a very Florentine affair — it had six properties in Florence before it opened Portrait Roma. This suites-only hotel has 14 pieds-à-terre with parquet, leather stools and black-and-white photography designed by Florentine Michele Bonan, whose reference is Fifties-era Pitti Palace. It's two sashays from the Spanish Steps, above the Ferragamo store on Via dei Condotti. And that's not even the prize: there's a panoramic terrace and a dedicated “lifestyle team” on hand to organise personalised experiences, as well as New York-style room service.

Book now

- Read our full review of Portrait Roma

22. Palazzo Dama, Palazzo del Popolo

BOOKINGS.COM

£££ | POOL | SPA | Best for a hint of decadence

What do you get when the noble Malaspina dynasty's belle époque villa meets the witty, contemporary designer Antonio Girardi? Roman decadence on the banks of the Tiber for the 21st century, that's what. This Liberty-style hotel and agent provocateur pays tongue-in-cheek homage to its socialite past with wood panelling, Italian objets d'art, grand chandeliers, contemporary art, a rococo bar and a nightclub. It also has a coveted pool. Its 29 rooms come in blue or green velvets, and it hosts the second outlet of Pacifico restaurant (a fun, Peruvian foray away from Roman cuisine). The cool district of Prati is just across the river.

Book now

23. Maalot Roma, Trevi Fountain

££ | Best for deluxe decor

In terms of singing praise, Maalot Roma has two arias: it's by the Trevi Fountain and it is located in the former home of the opera maestro Gaetano Donizetti (composer of L'elisir d'amore). It's a grand, peacockish version of the British style once adopted by Romans. Downstairs spaces are low-lit and sexy, with dark parquet, velvets and chandeliers. The palm-filled restaurant has a glorious glass ceiling. And its 30 different rooms are light-filled, with feature bedheads, art deco pieces and bathrooms in Calacatta Arabesco marble.

Book now

24. DOM Hotel, Campo de' Fiori

EXPEDIA

££ | Best for Italian gothic

Another sexy Roman affair, designed by Antonio Girardi, DOM's 16th-century palazzo facing the cobblestones of Via Giulia between Campo de' Fiori and Piazza Navona was once a Claretian monastery — its name is an acronym for Deo Optimum Maximo ("To God, the Best and Greatest"). A kind of virile Roman gothic reigns here, with noir-ish lighting, crushed velvets, Venetian mirrors, Man Rays and stag antlers. Big game is the bar's theme, and there's a whisky and cigar lounge along with 18 rooms and suites.

Book now

25. Hotel de la Ville, Spanish Steps

BOOKING.COM

£££ | SPA | POOL | Best for sheer indulgence

For his second grand hotel in Rome, Sir Rocco Forte had to top his first. He did that in 2019 by opening in an 18th-century palazzo on the Spanish Steps next to the Hassler. This time the wallpaper-and-monochrome-marble aesthetic of Tommaso Ziffer and Olga Polizzi was channelled through the prism of the Grand Tour, with copious velvets, busts and maps in 104 rooms, plus a thermal spa. For some of the best twilight views in the city head to seventh-floor Cielo, for cocktails and small seafood plates, or ground-floor Café Ginori, where all the dishes are served on tableware by the renowned Italian porcelain maker Ginori 1735. It really is one of those no-expense-spared kind of hotels — and if you can afford the budget-busting price tag, it's a Rome experience to remember.

Book now

26. Fendi Private Suites, Ara Pacis

BOOKING.COM

£££ | Best for fashionistas

Fendi's seven haute-couture pieds-à-terre are above its flagship outlet — an immaculate wedding cake of a palazzo — on Via dei Condotti, near the Trevi Fountain, the restoration of which was funded by the fashion house's foundation. The interiors are Rome according to Fendi; in the suites, pieces by big-name design showstoppers such as Fritz Hansen and Gio Ponti are mixed with furniture from the brand's Casa line. Limited-edition Fendi bags and Karl Lagerfeld's photos of the city are the art. Hairdryers are Bosch, the fourth-floor restaurant, Zuma, is Japanese and the Fendi-clad staff at the travertine-marble desk are fabulously connected.

Book now

- Best restaurants in Rome

Additional reporting by Stephanie Rafanelli, Orla Thomas, Cathy Adams, Julie Alpine and Oliver Berry

We regularly reassess and refresh this list, adding the latest advice and inspiration

What's your favourite hotel in Rome? Let us know in the comments below

Travel > Destinations > Europe > Italy > Rome

Italy

Hotels

Italy hotels

Italy city breaks

Rome hotels

Share

Related articles

Our experts have been exploring Italy for years — these are the cities not to miss

Julia Buckley, Italy expert | Nicky Swallow, Italy expert

21 of the best things to do in Rome

Sean Newsom

Milan v Rome: which city is better?

Mia Aimaro Ogden